PROFILE

Motivated Information Technologies student at ADA University with a strong interest in Data Science, analytics, and problem-solving. Skilled in critical thinking and eager to apply data-driven approaches to real-world challenges.

I am actively developing my knowledge in data analysis, statistics, and programming, and I enjoy transforming raw data into meaningful insights. I am a fast learner, detail-oriented, and passionate about building impactful solutions through data.

EXPERIENCES

Although I do not yet have formal work experience, I have actively taken part in volunteering activities at university. I was involved in the organization and support of different events, which helped me improve my teamwork, communication, and organizational skills. These experiences allowed me to contribute to successful projects and gain valuable practical knowledge.
